WHO I AM

I'm a UX Designer with a background in Industrial Design and photo manipulation. My passion is to use visual tools to make people feel and think in new ways.

I love learning new skills. I don't have problems delegating work to others, but I like to feel able to do it myself if needed. That's why I only use my own pictures to illustrate this website.

I have always enjoyed solving problems of daily life and I love working with my hands as well as with a computer.

CONTACT ME

I'm always happy to join new projects, meet new people, drink tea and chat about UX, movies, cats and dogs... If you feel curious, get in touch!

WHAT I HAVE DONE

I've worked in advertising and multimedia. I've done a few photographic exhibitions and I've been an artisan and a baker, among other things.

This sinuous experience has given me a general understanding of the world, from the emotional reaction that arises when a need is not covered, through the process of finding and developing the solution, until the end of the lifecycle.

I decided to start a career in UX because this discipline puts together all the skills that I have been developing throughout my life.

WHAT I WANT TO DO

I'm always open to new challenges and I love learning new things. I enjoy working hard when I know that what I do makes a difference in people's lives.

I would like to work with people who put the user first and believe in what they do, so they are always willing to do a great job in any circumstance.

I would love to be surrounded by amazing professionals who are aware of themselves and others and are not afraid of trying new things.

PROJECTS

SUPERCARERS

Group project to improve the user experience and engagement for SuperCarers, a London based company that wants to make home care easier, cheaper and sustainable for everyone.

SKILLS

- Team work
- Stakeholder interview
- User interview
- Creation of personas
- Prototyping
- Usability testing

The challenge was to keep the user engaged and give them the best possible experience in a very hard moment of their lives.

The new web app provides the users with support, training and useful information whilst they wait for the company to find the best care choice for them.

BOOTS

Group project to build a new health tracking app for Boots that allows the customers to manage their health history and book appointments with their pharmacist, saving time to the users and lightening the NHS whilst creating engagement with the brand.

SKILLS

- Time management
- Competitive analysis
- User research
- Creation of personas
- Visual design
- Usability testing

The new Health Tracking App gives the user the opportunity to manage and update their health history, create customised health reports and share this information with their pharmacist, making easier for everyone to get a quick and reliable health care.
